

THE HONORARY ALBERT VAN STEENBERGE LECTURE

In 1956 Albert Van Steenberge introduced and developed loco-regional anesthesia and epidural analgesia in child-birth. He was one of the founders of the Belgian Society of Anesthesia and Reanimation and co-founder and first national president of the Belgian Union of Medical doctors (1963-1965). Albert devoted his entire career to the practice, teaching and the promotion of regional anesthesia, made a remarkable contribution to the profession by improving and teaching new techniques. The work of pioneers like Albert contributed hugely to the increasing popularity of regional anesthesia in Europe.

Albert Van Steenberge was a true chairman, clinical researcher and a fantastic tutor. He trained numerous anesthesiologists (250) and his scientific output is enviable. Albert Van Steenberge received several awards, including the Distinguished Service Award (ASRA) and the Carl Koller Gold Medal Award (ESRA). The Honorary Albert Van Steenberge annual lecture was initiated in 2004 by the Belgian Association for Regional Anesthesia (BARA).

Albert will be remembered as a wonderful friend, a true gentleman, a talented regional anesthesiologist, a great organizer and a visionary. His memory will live on through his accomplishments and the friends and people whose lives he touched.
